

New senior living facility opens

Aberdeen Heights in Kirkwood has opened its doors for senior residents at 575 Couch Ave., the former site of St. Joseph Hospital.

The $179 million, 18-acre community features 243 maintenance-free, independent living apartment homes with an array of amenities, including restaurant-style dining, a fitness center, indoor pool, creative arts studio, multi-purpose room, salon and spa, and underground garage parking.

Residents will have access to wellness and fitness programs, continuing education classes, and social and cultural events. Aberdeen Heights will provide interior and exterior maintenance, landscaping and groundskeeping, concierge services, housekeeping and linen service, scheduled transportation and access to on-site care, if needed. The community's health care center is scheduled to open early in 2012.
